Report Tonight On Membership Drive

Reports on the current membership drive will be made at a meeting of the officers and executive board of the Andover Visiting Nurse Association, Inc., which is to be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the Square and Compass club.

The opening weeks of the drive have brought encouraging results and many local residents have already become charter members of the organization. Plans to intensify the drive will be made at this evening's meeting in order that all families in the community will be contacted. A special request to join has been made to those who may have been away on vacation during the past few weeks, or who are planning to be away this month or in August.

The association is endeavoring to secure $5000 through membership subscriptions to carry on the work of the visiting nurse here which was formerly sponsored by the Andover chapter, American Red Cross.

Air-Raid System On Stand-By

The Andover air-raid warning system is now on a stand-by basis, and can go into action immediately, Commander Albert Cole, Jr., of Andover post 8, American Legion, local director, said Thursday.

Following a meeting a week ago, the warning service was made ready for instant duty. Former members of the system are prepared to man the tower, but many volunteers are needed in the event an around the clock watch is to be set up.

Legislation is at present being enacted which will allow the Governor to appoint a state civil defense head. When this has been done, definite orders will come from state headquarters outlining the type of service which is to be maintained here.

All former volunteers, together with others who may be able to devote some of their time to the all-important work, have been urged to sign up by Commander Cole.

Perfect Records By Many Pupils

First year students at the Junior High school had the best attendance during the past school year, according to figures released Wednesday by Superintendent of schools Kenneth L. Sherman.

Those with perfect attendance records in the local school system from September to June were:

Swimming Meet At Pomp's Pond Sunday, July 30

A swimming carnival of competitive form is being arranged for Sunday, July 30, at 2 p. m., by the Pomp's pond staff. Events open to swimming enthusiasts will include races using the crawl, back, breast and side strokes; boat-sinking contests; underwater distance swims from the raft to shore; penny-toss for children; greased watermelon scramble; and speed runs with rowboats.

Classes will be arranged for the children according to their age groups under the direct supervision of the Pomp's pond lifeguards.

Those wishing to enter any of the various events may register with the bathing beach matron, Miss Patricia Black. The games will be held, weather permitting.

Oil Storage Permit To Housing Board

The Andover Housing Authority has been granted permission to store 10,000 gallons of fuel oil underground at the Veterans Housing project by the board of selectmen, acting as the licensing board. The action was taken at Monday evening's meeting.

A hearing will be held on Monday, July 24, on an application to store 500 gallons of gasoline for the police department in a tank to be located underground at the rear of the Town House.

Permission was granted by the selectmen to the Lawrence Gas and Electric company for two pole locations on Abbot st., and one on Virginia rd.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company was granted permission to install underground conduit in various sections of the town for which no new construction will be necessary. The company also received permission to install buried cable on Beacon st.

Draft Office Here May Be Re-Opened

The possibility that Local Draft Board 3, which during World War II days and for a period thereafter was located in Andover, may have to be reopened, loomed this week as state officials announced that the majority of draft boards are far behind in their classification work.

When Local Board 3, which was located in the Town House, suspended operations, the records were taken to Lawrence and became part of Local Board 8, which presently registers all young men in the Greater Lawrence area.

During World War II, Local Board 3 took care of all registrations, classifications and inductions for Andover, North Andover and Boxford. If the local board is reactivated, a great deal of pressure would be taken off Board 8 in Lawrence, which has 9000 registrations, with approximately 4000 classified.

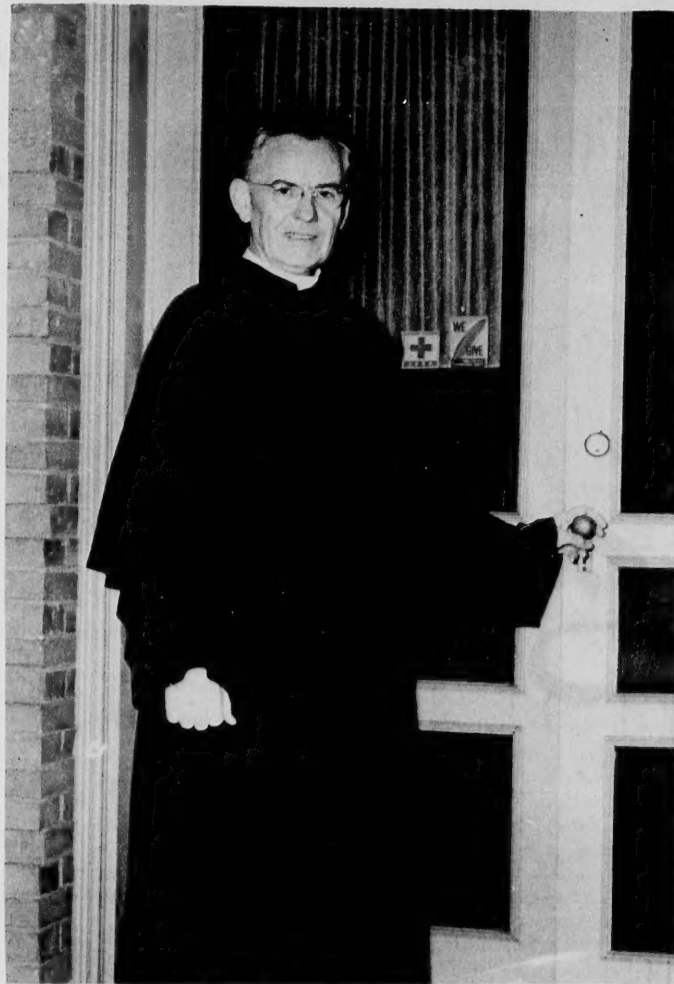

Directives went out this week to the heads of all boards that a 40-hour week was to be initiated and extra clerical help added.

State officials have voiced the opinion that many former boards will have to be reopened in order to speed up the classification work. Board 3 in Andover would probably be one of the first in this area to resume operations.

All local draft boards were provided with a blueprint for mobilization in the event of a dire emergency three months ago. Many draft board members have not even seen these orders, since in many cases the boards have not been holding any meetings. Because of the present emergency, boards will be called together and members made familiar with the plans.

Since the present draft calls only for the induction of a comparatively small number of men, all boards would be able to fill their quotas without any difficulty. However, if more men are to be called up, classifications would also have to be speeded up and this may necessitate the expanding of the draft system in many communities.

Prize-Winning Float Work of Lifeguards

The attractive float that won first prize in the "Night Before" parade last week was the work of several members of Pomp's pond bathing beach staff.

In off hours they set up the scene on one of the Pitman estate trucks to show typical summer activity at the beach which included beach sand, a portable radio and bathers Jean Davis, Joan Keith, Maureen Collins and Dorothy Dunn.

PARD member Robert McCabe was perched atop the surf board while Lifeguard Otis Clark rowed the lifeboat through imaginary water made of red, white and blue crepe paper.

Artist Justin Curry prepared the background scene with colored chalk which depicted the setting of buildings and other familiar landmarks at the beach.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

THE BUILDING BOOM

Records just released from the office of Building Inspector Ralph W. Coleman reflect the very healthy building boom which is in progress here.

The number of permits issued for new homes in June bring to 79 the total for the first half of the year. Already this is more than the 77 issued for the entire year of 1949.

The estimated cost of the new construction and that of the additions and alterations being made to local property has reached the impressive figure of $898,800 for the first six months of the year. This is nearly double the $450,000 for a similar period a year ago.

As Banker and Tradesman observes in its review of the real estate market of New England, there are plenty of customers for new homes and the production of homes is setting a fast pace. The emphasis is still on the small, relatively low-cost house but the market for the larger, higher-priced houses is being felt out cautiously with good results in spite of the rising building costs.

Here in Andover there is little doubt that the town is growing. New areas are being developed and new dwellings are being completed to add several hundred thousand dollars more to the town's valuation.

Should this activity continue as it has started out, it will make 1950 a banner year in the annals of home construction.

WE CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

The first real Fourth of July observance the town has experienced in recent years has drawn much favorable comment from those who shared in its various attractions.

Sponsored by the relief associations of the police and fire departments it presented a diversified "Night Before" program which drew many out-of-town visitors, first to see the parade through downtown streets and then to pack the playstead where a week's carnival opened with an outdoor show, a grand display of fireworks and a midnight bonfire.

The crowd at the playstead, conservatively estimated at 7000, was evidence that there were many who preferred to stay at home over the holiday rather than get into the long lines of that cluttered the highways.

The attraction may have had something to do with the lack of arrests and the absence of fire alarms, both of which were appreciated by public safety officials.

There appears to be no doubt but that the relief associations will put on a similar show next year.

The thing that for a long time kept the electorate behind the planners and the speechmakers has been the promise of gain without work—of something for nothing. It is nothing more than just a promise. Everett (Pa) Republican.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago - July 1900

Henry Cunningham, fireman at the pumping station, yesterday exhibited a handsome string of white perch caught at Haggetts pond.

Ira Buxton has been appointed engineer of the steam fire engine. Moonlight drives to Haggett's pond are popular just now.

Many Lawrence stores are closing Wednesday afternoons, the clerks enjoying the much needed rest. Why not close Andover stores, also?

Good Templars are going to hold picnic Saturday at Canobie Lake. A special train will follow the 8:19.

Thomas Hay of Andover Press had narrow escape from injury when, descending a steep driveway, he lost control of his wheel and collided with a brick pillar.

The board of public works left a dangerous spot in the square unguarded Monday night. A sewer trench was left open and carriages and bicyclists might easily have driven into it. Chief Frye had a red lantern placed there.

Surveyors are at work at Brothers field which is to be converted into an athletic field for Phillips academy.

The new Andover-Reading electric railway is to be completed in a few weeks which will mean quick and cheap trips to the beaches near Boston and Lynn.

Lucy Cogswell, nearly 90, one of oldest and most beloved residents, dies.

Steamer Merrimack advertises two trips daily between Haverhill and Salisbury beach.

Miss Lucy Agnes Roach and Dennis Francis Sweeney married at St. Augustine's church by the Rev. P. J. Lynch.

Miss Bridget M. Byrne and Patrick J. Dwane married in St. Augustine's church by the Rev. P. J. Lynch.

Selectmen Goldsmith, Boutwell and Stark took dinner with Supt. and Mrs. George L. Burnham at the town farm Monday.

Papers have been passed by which the Hussey estate and land about the pond becomes the property of Paul Hannigan of Lawrence.

25 Years Ago - July 1925

Fourth of July celebration a great success. Day ushered in by large bonfire on playstead to which torch was applied exactly at midnight by George Dick of the Square & Compass club. Concert postponed because of showers. Program of parade, sports and soccer carried out in Shawheen Village. The Ballardvale celebration of bonfire, horribles parade, pageant, races, water sports, concert and dance attracted many visitors.

The building of homes, garages, camps, gas stations, hen houses, and even a mill, goes steadily forward in spite of the high cost of labor and materials.

Lively discussion of the question "Shall public dancing in Shawheen be commercialized," at hearing in town house to see if license will be granted. Selectmen withhold decision.

Appearing this week in films at the Colonial theatre, Andover, are Jackie Coogan, Milton Sills, Jack Mulhall, Harry Carey, Mabel Normand and Nazimova.

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

STOCKHOLM — A remark made the other day by a French doctor traveling home through Sweden to France hit the head squarely on the nail of the Korean situation. "This crisis," he said, "should unite the democracies in reversing the role of the Iron Curtain. From now on it should be a barrier to keep communism out of the democratic nations."

That Korea, with no history whatsoever of democracy, should now be the rallying-point of the democracies against communism might seem to be ironical. But the reaction of the United States and the other democracies to this naked aggression is highly commendable. The almost instantaneous action taken by the United States marked her as a leader at a highly critical moment. Without her example the smaller nations could have done little. Indeed, to many Europeans the American action is the more heartening because less than a year ago United States official policy had written off Korea. Russia had used her post-war occupation of northern Korea to win over the peasants by land reform, and communize the army and police. She then formally ended her occupation and called upon the United States to do the same. We withdrew our forces a year ago.

Korea — A Test Of The U. S.?

It is safe to assume that the North Korean government received at least approval from Russia before attacking southwards. Presumably Russia calculated that the fight would be a push-over. If past history were any sign-post, then the democracies should have wasted so much time deciding what to do that the conquest of Korea would be an accomplished fact while talk proceeded. Had Russia's objective been accomplished, then as surely would the clouds of certain future war have darkened Europe. Excuses could have been found to explain away lack of action. Korea could have been declared unimportant. Discussions could have dragged out fruitlessly. We could have argued that Russia wasn't really interested in Korea, that this was really only a local incident.

And Of The Atlantic Pact?

Had the United States done that, then as surely would the Atlantic Pact have been demonstrated as a paper agreement only. For no one can live as close to Russian influence as do so many nations without constantly fearing for the future. And many a nation might have been tempted to make the best of a bad job and try to make some deal with Russia, knowing really that communism would win out sooner or later. But prompt action by the public leaders of the United States has heartened the world immeasurably. A powerful nation has taken a stand against aggression. The United States and the democracies have in all probability headed off a third world war. United action has demonstrated a common interest and purpose. Because the Russians weren't out merely to get Korea. This was to be another step in the cold war—the introduction of naked violence. In a limited way perhaps, but enough for Russia to find out what she could or could not get away with.

To Terrorise Eurasia Via Korea

The battlefield of this attempt is cleverly chosen. Russia is by no means officially involved. If anything should unexpectedly go wrong, then Russian liabilities could be definitely limited. North Korea is a Russian satellite whose actions could be declared an "internal" affair in which Russia would not intervene. And so far that is Russia's stand. But had the North Korean forces taken over the country without any opposition, that action would have paid tremendous dividends to Russia. The cold war would have taken a new turn and terrorised literally all Eurasia. The fate of the Koreans would have served as a fearful warning to the peoples of Asia, Europe and the Middle East. Everyone close to Russia—Western Germans, Turks, Greeks, Scandinavians—would have been served notice as to what could happen at any moment from now on. They would have understood that no assistance could be expected if a communist invasion occurred. And Russia would have learned conclusively that violence could pay off.

Perspective Necessary

The Korean incident may be called an invasion by proxy—Russia using stooges to do the job for her. Properly handled by the democracies the incident can be an effective deterrent. And proper handling necessitates proper perspective. The issue should be kept as clear and simple as possible. It is not a matter of our gaining strategic military advantages in Asia. It is simply the issue of demonstrating that aggression does not scare off the democracies, that the free peoples are united against the violence of communism wherever it may occur.

Strength For The U. N.

A very important result of the Korean affair is that the United Nations have gained tremendously. Russia's boycott of that organization has given it the opportunity to make itself an effective body. The stand taken by the democracies on Korea has transformed the United Nations from an apparently ineffective debating society in which we were losing faith into the executive spokesman for the non-communist world. For perhaps the first time since the end of the last war, this organization has been able to take a significant stand. This does not mean that it is yet a very effective organization. Nor does it mean that the political crisis is past. But it means that the world has taken heart. The free peoples have taken the first major stand. They know that they face danger, but they face it with relief because they face it together. And facing it together they may find it far less frightening than they had thought it to be. From now on the free peoples of the world know the direction they must take. They know that by never giving way one step to the forces of communism they may finally secure the future for themselves.

Local Sail Boats In Sea Regatta

Residents of the Andover area now own half of the North Shore One Design fleet at Ipswich Bay, since Richard Whipple of North Andover acquired the N. S. 17, The Snap, ChumFun, Spurwink, Clipper II, and Willy, are all locally owned.

On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday the second Ipswich Bay Yacht Club regatta will be held. At that time the Beverly fleet of N. S.'s will sail up to race in the regatta. It will be very interesting to watch where the Beverly boats place as Beverly was the birthplace of the class.

Last Wednesday in a light southeasterly breeze Snap won out over Willy and in so doing tied with Willy for first place. Saturday's race was declared no race when the only two boats to finish rounded a starting mark incorrectly. In a tight race Sunday morning Bill Shute's Peggy nosed out Willy by five seconds. This race was a re-sail of the race on July 4th. In the afternoon race both Shute and Carter finished ahead of Willy, with three boats in the race.

THE BRADFORD has its entrance vestibule in a location which permits this house to be placed easily with its narrow side to the street. This plan is expedient for a narrow lot.

The Bradford's plan calls for two bedrooms, a kitchen-dinette combination and a living room. All rooms in the house open into the bedroom hall, allowing privacy in circulation.

Closet space is ample in The Bradford. There is a coat closet in the front vestibule. There is a linen closet and a general storage closet in the hall. And there are wardrobes in each of the two bedrooms.

The Bradford's attached breezeway and garage are optional. When present, they give width to the house. The Bradford's straight walls and low roof lines make it an economical house to frame. The Bradford is also adaptable to the use of concrete block construction.

Plans shown, call for frame construction with siding. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

Overall width of The Bradford is 59 feet. The main body of the house is 40 feet by 24 feet. The area is 947 square feet with 18,192 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BRADFORD, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Long Distance
Swim At Pomp's

Plans for the annual cumulative long-distance swimming competition are being prepared to promote friendly rivalry at Pomp's pond swimming beach.

This season the competitors will be required to swim a distance of 300 lengths from dock to dock (approximately 15,000 yards). Competitors are allowed to swim at their own rate and at any time an official counter is present.

Since the distance swim is cumulative from day to day records of each entrant will be posted on a chart. The first to complete the swim will be awarded prizes at the annual water carnival, to be known as the prize of the top achievement in the C. T. E. (cross the equator) club.

The annual water carnival with its long list of events, and the water pageant and ballet will be held at a date in August to be announced later.

Local Boats In Ipswich Fleet

Andover will be well represented this weekend at the Ipswich Bay Regatta, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, largest racing event of the season north of Marblehead. The North Shore One Design Class, with half the fleet owned by Andover residents, meets the hard racing Beverly North Shores and Marblehead boats. New to the fleet is Al Zink's Spurwink, and Dick Whipple's (of North Andover) Clipper 2. In the Wednesday series to date Miles Malone's Snap is tied for first place with Bill Hogan's Willy. Ipswich and Newburyport boats are leading in the Saturday and Sunday series. The Turnabout Class is racing off its class championship at the Regatta on Sunday when Twenty Turnabouts from Quincy Bay, five from Winthrop, and three from Marblehead meet the Ipswich fleet of sixteen Turnabouts. In the Wednesday series for the Turnabouts, Andover residents are holding three top places. Gray Whipple first in his Short'en Sweet, Polly Hogan second in her Flying Saucer and Jerry Malone third in his Gingersnap. Dick Whipple is first in the Saturday series. Runners-up have come in as close as four seconds behind and will be rewarded in the coming Regatta with second and third prizes. The Ipswich Bay Yacht club is preparing for two hundred boats, including the Indian class, Lightning class, Friendship and Fish classes, a large Town class fleet, twenty, North Shores and about forty Turnabouts as well as a Handicap class.

Present plans call for the drafting of 1400 men from Massachusetts in September. The draftees will be young men between the ages of 18-25. The present 1-A classifications may be of little value as there have not been any physical examinations in many months. In addition, the family status of some of the present 1-A group probably has changed since they were first classified. Thus, the work of reclassification of all those presently registered becomes more urgent as the date nears for the induction of some men from all sections of the state.

Col. Chester A. Furbish, state selective service director, stated that the 1400 1-A men will form an eligible pool from which about 700 men will be taken within two months for active duty.

Draft Board 8, in Lawrence, where Andover's eligible young men must register, went on a full time basis Tuesday. The office in the Blakeley building will be open daily, Monday through Friday, from 8.30 a. m. to 5.30 p. m. A full time clerk has been appointed and the draft board has been called to a meeting Tuesday evening at 8 p. m., the first such meeting in five months.
